International Monetary Relations (ECON 324)

TR 5:15pm – 6:30pm
Spring 2026 Syllabus

I. GENERAL INFORMATION

Instructor: Marshall Langer
Office hours: By appointment (convenient times: TR after 6:30pm)
Telephone: +39 347.1763096
Email: mlanger1@luc.edu
Background: Wall Street; corporate management, economic analysis, strategic planning. MBA, Wharton School.

II. COURSE INFORMATION

1. Course Description. In this course students assess theories of international monetary relations (often termed by economists as international macroeconomics). Topics covered include international trade, monetary theory, international finance, foreign exchange markets, balance of payments (and trade deficits), capital mobility, government fiscal and monetary policies, international macroeconomic cooperation, economic crises, and the role of international institutions.

The course is divided into 4 distinct parts, as follows:

- Part 1. International Macroeconomics
- Part 2. Foreign Exchange
- Part 3. International Trade
- Part 4. Sovereign Risk Assessment

2. Learning Objectives.

- A. Develop accurate assessments of foreign economic environments.
- B. Craft analyses that illuminate macroeconomic realities affecting international monetary relations.
- C. Think more critically and more strategically globally in a business and economic context.
- D. Hone sensitivity skills required to succeed in multinational business environments.

III. LEARNING ACTIVITIES

1. Interactive class discussion. Classes are highly interactive. Instructor prompts students for response to questions posed and solicits his/her thoughts on issues discussed. Format is probing and direct. Additionally, instructor provides concrete, real-world examples to illustrate concepts. Lecture format reinforces by example appropriate methods for asking questions, gaining relevant insights, and making appropriate recommendation. (Contributes to Learning Objectives A, B, C, D)

JOHN FELICE ROME CENTER

2. Presentation of textbook readings. Textbook and other assigned readings (assigned according to the schedule in section VII of this syllabus) present relevant topics, which are covered more depthfully in class lecture. In class discussion of readings, instructor highlights most relevant reading topics and shows by example how to present data in a stimulating way, consistent with achieving course objectives. (Contributes to Learning Objectives A, B, C)

3. Case Study and/or Article Presentation. Case studies and articles are used to further illustrate real-world examples of subject topics. For all assigned cases/articles, students should be prepared to answer questions about the case/article and be able to illustrate its subtler aspects. For select cases/articles an individual written submission is due. For select cases/articles students will be selected to make a presentation. In class discussion of case studies/articles serves to highlight analytical methods, indicating specifically, ways to discern the most relevant focal points. (Contributes to Learning Objectives A, B, C, D)

IV. ASSESSMENT

30%	Midterm exam
35%	Final exam
20%	Group project – economic analysis
15%	Class participation, quizzes, case studies/article presentation, homework

1. Exams. Exams will be composed of essay questions that test your ability to apply concepts discussed through the exam date. (Measures Learning Objectives A, B, C)

2. Case/Article Analyses. All cases/articles should be prepared for class. For select cases/articles, where indicated, an individual written submission is due and is assigned based on the schedule in section VII of this syllabus. Additionally, for select cases/articles students will be selected to make a presentation. Your grade for the presentation will reflect much new insight you teach the class (rather than repeat the facts). (Measures Learning Objectives A, B, C)

3. Group project – economic analysis. Develop and present economic analysis of assigned region from perspective of a corporate client considering business opportunities there. (Measures Learning Objectives A, B, C)

4. Quizzes. Short, in-class quizzes will test your comprehension of course materials to date. (Measures Learning Objectives A, B, C)

5. Class Participation. You will be graded on the quality of, and demonstrated insight of, your in-class comments, including comments related to answers to assigned problems. (Measures Learning Objectives A, B, C, D)

6. Attendance Policy. In accordance with the Rome Center mission to promote a higher level of academic rigor, and in compliance with full-time student visa status, all courses adhere to the following attendance policy.

Prompt attendance, preparation and active participation in course discussions are expected from every student and synonymous with academic success. Attendance is mandatory at every class meeting for each course. Lateness or leaving class early will impact the course grade at the professor's discretion. All absences, including medical absences, will be treated the same, unless they are documented long-term conditions or emergencies. Such situations will be evaluated case-by-case by the Academic Affairs office.

Once-a-week classes:

- After 1 absence, a 2% final grade reduction will be applied for each missed class.
- Missing 3 classes or more will result in an automatic failure (F).

Twice-a-week classes:

- After 2 absences, a 2% final grade reduction will be applied for each missed class.
- Missing 6 classes or more will result in an automatic failure (F).

Three-times-a week classes:

- After 2 absences, a 2% final grade reduction will be applied for each missed class.
- Missing 6 classes or more will result in an automatic failure (F).

7. Academic Honesty. Plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty are unacceptable at the JFRC and will be dealt with in accordance with Loyola University Chicago's guidelines. Please familiarize yourself with Loyola's standards here: http://www.luc.edu/academics/catalog/undergrad/reg_academicintegrity.shtml. You are responsible to comply with the LUC Student Handbook.

8. Late or Missed Assignments. Late or missed assignments will not be accepted for grading without the authorization of the instructor.

9. Accessibility Accommodations. Students registered with the Student Accessibility Center requiring academic accommodations should contact the Office of the Dean at the John Felice Rome Center, the first week of classes.
