Biographical History

Janet A. Nolan was born in San Francisco, California, on January 20, 1946. She earned her BA from the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Massachusetts in 1967 in History. From 1967 to 1976 Nolan taught eighth grade American History as well as high school English. She then continued her education at the University of Rhode Island in Kingston, Rhode Island, where she earned her MA in History in 1978. She received her PhD in History from the University of Connecticut in 1986. As a teaching assistant at the University of Connecticut, she taught courses in Women's History, Western Civilization, and Modern European History. Her dissertation, "Ourselves Alone: Women's Emigration from Ireland, 1885-1920," was published in 1989. It chronicles the journey that Irish women made during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to the United States.

In 1987, Nolan earned the position of Assistant Professor of History at Loyola University Chicago. As part of the faculty Nolan taught Introductory Western Civilization, Oral History, and Modern European history classes. Later in her career, Nolan taught Irish History and Irish American History classes. Nolan has been named "One of the Three Most Effective Teachers at Loyola University" in 1990-1998 and was named "One of the Faculty Members Who Most Inspired Them to become Historians" in 1992. She received other honors for her academic work and has given countless talks at conferences and seminars. She published work in the Irish Studies Review, New Hibernia Review, and Eire-Ireland, among others, as well as published books for Notre Dame University Press and University Press of Kentucky. Dr. Nolan retired from Loyola University Chicago in 2009.

Scope and Content

The Janet A. Nolan Papers consist of materials that pertain to Dr. Nolan's career as an author, educator, researcher, and historian. Most of the topics within the collection concern the fields of education, Irish Studies, and Women's studies, or a combination thereof. The collection is divided into six series; the materials are arranged alphabetically within each series.

Series 1: Correspondence, 1981-2008, undated, Boxes 1-2

This series contains correspondence written and received by Janet Nolan. The subject of the correspondence reflects Nolan's professional career, activities, and research. Much of the correspondence pertains to her publications and research, but not exclusively. This series is ordered chronologically.

Series 2: Professional Activities, 1979-2007, undated, Boxes 2-5

This series contains materials from professional conferences, organizations, workshops, and committees that Dr. Nolan was involved in. Also included are materials from colleagues, awards that were applied for/received, interviews, and publicity items.

Series 3: Publications, 1986-2008, undated, Boxes 5-9

This series contains Dr. Nolan's published articles, books, and reviews, as well as citations, drafts, and manuscripts of her writing. Her works include the following topics but are not limited to: Irish emigration/immigration, Irish American teachers, and Women's mobility in Ireland and the United States.

Series 4: Research, 1980-2005, undated, Boxes 9-12

This series contains copies of articles, biographical information, letters, newspaper clippings, and notes that pertained to Dr. Nolan's research. Most of the materials focus on Irish American teachers and Irish America.

Series 5: Teaching, 1969-2001, undated, Boxes 13-14

This series includes all material that is related to Dr. Nolan's classes that she taught while at Loyola University Chicago. Much of this series pertains to Nolan's Oral History Class, which is listed as HIST 483 in Loyola's course catalog.

Series 6: Audiovisual, 1992-2006, undated, Box 15

This series contains photos, photo reprints, transparencies, digital reprints (hardcopies printed from digital files), and software (floppy disks) that relate to Dr. Nolan's research and professional activities. Many of the photo reprints were published in Nolan's books.
